We are in the midst of an experience that is so shockingly unique that it seems impossible to put into perspective. Since the Covid-19 pandemic began, we have been figuring out how to live in what seems like a new world, one devoid of contact with others and one in which masks prevent us from using cues like facial expressions to aid in communication. As difficult as it is to communicate right now, we’ve been working hard to find ways to provide you with the services and assistance you desire, while doing what we can to keep everyone safe.

We’ve expanded existing services and added new ones, like curbside pickup, home delivery, and chat reference. We expanded our collection of ebooks and digital audiobooks and also began holding all library events virtually. While the library is currently open Monday–Thursday, 11:30 AM–7:00 PM and Friday–Saturday, 9:30 AM–5:00 PM, we encourage you to use these new options and to look for announcements of any possible changes to library services.

Access to our wireless internet is available in our parking lot or anywhere on library grounds. While we are restricting use of personal Wi-Fi devices in the building, residents of Norridge and Harwood Heights can still use our in-house computers. We also have a new collection of laptop/hotspot kits that you can borrow and take home. Additionally, we’re looking at circulating items from our Workshop, such as musical instruments and sewing machines.

To conclude, I want to say thank you. Thank you for your support, patience, understanding, and cooperation. Closing the library in March was one of the hardest things we’ve had to do. When we opened our doors again in mid-July, seeing all of you come back made us so happy and reaffirmed our commitment to you. We missed you so much. We’re looking forward to the day when we can put aside the Plexiglas protectors, the protective gloves and facemasks, and see your smiles again.

A CONVERSATION WITH AUTHOR JARRETT J. KROSOCZKA
FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 6:00 PM.
Jarrett J. Krosoczka is the New York Times-bestselling author/illustrator behind more than forty books for young readers, including his wildly popular Lunch Lady graphic novels. Most recently he has found new acclaim with his graphic novel Hey, Kiddo, a memoir of growing up in a family grappling with addiction and finding the art that helps you survive.

A participant in this year’s LitWorks Teen Book Fest, Jarrett will also present his story and answer your questions in an online chat open to the entire community. Find the link to join the conversation on Zoom at eisenhowerlibrary.org/jarrett

ANONYMOUS TEEN WRITERS
EVERY THURSDAY, 4:00 PM.
Writers in grades 7–12 are invited to join in on Zoom video chat for some socializing, discussion, and, of course, writing! Share your poems and stories in a supportive space or listen to others read. Find the link to join us online at eisenhowerlibrary.org.

TEEN COMIC CAMP
DECEMBER 21-23 & 28-29, 12:00-3:00 PM.
Are you interested in creating comics? Over winter break, spend five days learning and talking about comic making with Eisner and Harvey Award winning artist Gabriel Bautista and Albert the Alien writer Trevor Mueller. Then use what you learn to collaborate with other would-be comic creators in making your own mini-comics. Space is limited so register with an email address ASAP to receive your personal Zoom invitation.

LITWORKS
TEENBOOKFEST
Our annual teen book fest in cooperation with Ridgewood High School is going online. This winter and spring, look for LitWorks virtual discussions with YA authors including Jarrett J. Krosoczka, Chris Crutcher, Mayra Cuevas, and Kiku Hughes. Find links to participate at eisenhowerlibrary.org/litworks.

CHRIS CRUTCHER
FRIDAY, MARCH 05, 1:45 PM.
Chris Crutcher’s s autobiography King of the Mild Frontier is the story of his life growing up in Idaho. Losers Bracket is the story of Annie, her foster family, and her search for her missing nephew. Chris has received a number of awards, starting with his high school designation as “Most Likely to Plagiarize.” His favorites are his Intellectual Freedom awards.

MAYRA CUEVAS
FRIDAY, APRIL 09, 1:45 PM.
Raised in Puerto Rico, Mayra Cuevas is a journalist and fiction writer who adores love stories with happy endings. Her book Salty, Bitter, Sweet was selected as one of the “YA Books We Can’t Wait to Read in 2020” by BuzzFeed. It's a slow-burn romance in a cutthroat kitchen for 17-year old Isabella Fields who is trying to realize her dream of becoming a chef.

KIKU HUGHES
FRIDAY, MAY 07, 1:45 PM.
Kiku is a cartoonist known for her science fiction and fantasy stories in various anthologies, including Avatar: The Last Airbender – Team Avatar Tales. Her new book, Displacement, her first full-length project as both writer and artist, tells the story of a teenager pulled back in time to experience the Japanese American incarceration camps alongside her grandmother.

JARRETT KROSOCZKA
FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1:45 PM.
Meet Jarrett J. Krosoczka, author of Hey, Kiddo, a graphic memoir of his father’s disappearance, his mother’s addiction, his life with his grandparents, and how art saved his life. Hey, Kiddo is a powerful book that also happens to be a National Book Award Finalist, the 2019 Harvey Awards Book of the Year, and one of Chicago Public Library’s Best Books of 2018.
HOME DELIVERY & CURBSIDE PICKUP
We remain dedicated to the health and safety of our patrons, staff, and community. That's why we're continuing to offer curbside pickup and home delivery to Norridge and Harwood Heights addresses.

To request curbside pickup or home delivery, place your holds as you normally would in the library catalog or by calling 708-867-7828. You'll receive a notification when your items are ready.

If you'd like curbside pickup, come to the library and follow the posted instructions for drivers or pedestrians.

If you'd prefer delivery, give us a call at 708-867-7828 to let us know. Your loans will be delivered to your home and you will receive a phone call or text message letting you know that they have arrived.
